CORRECT SITTING POSITION

How One May Lean Over Desk for Hours Without Getting Backache.

A word about the proper position in which to study and sit at a desk. Always sit as far back in the chair as possible, but do not touch the shoulders or the small of the back to the back of the chair. Then lean forward from the hip joint without bending the back. Practice leaning forward till the chest touches the knees; repeat the motion three times. Now you may lean over your desk for hours without a backache. Don't sit with the end of the spine curled under you.

To breathe properly take a deep, slow breath; another and another. Put both the hands on your ribs and see how they expand and contract as you breathe in and out. Put one hand on the low ribs in front and the other opposite it on the back. Feel how the back swells as you breathe.

There is a powerful muscle called the diaphragm that divides the chest from the abdomen. As the heart and lungs are in the chest, the diaphragm may be called the floor of the chest. It is fastened to the backbone, the ribs and the sternum or breastbone. And when people speak of diaphragmatic breathing they mean just what we are doing now—filling the lungs with air and emptying them by the expansion and contraction.

IN ELECTION TIMES.

Fairman—These ignorant foreigners should not be allowed to vote.

Wardman—Yes; they look so much alike I can't tell which ones I've given two-dollar bills to, and which I haven't!

THE ONLY CHILD.

The only child is liable to disadvantages that do not come the way of children brought up among brothers and sisters. It is not only that the child is in danger of being spoiled and of growing selfish through having no playmate with whom to share his or her toys, sweets and so on, but there is the lack of young, healthy companionship to be reckoned with, and this means much to the child's development. If he or she lives only with grown-up people much of the sweetness of childhood will be lost, for no matter how gay and bright parents may be children require the companionship of children of their own age, with their own childlike ideas of fun and frolic, who will bring the right touch of youth and inexperience to nursery gambols.

It is a mistake to educate an only child at home. Send him or her rather to a kindergarten at an early age, and afterward to a good day school. It is not absolutely necessary for a girl to go to a boarding school. She can finish her education after having passed through an advanced day school, by attending first-class lectures daily.

A FIGHT INEVITABLE.

"I want my son to get accustomed to fighting his way through life," said the fond father.

"You want him to get fighting experience as easily as possible?"

"Yes."

"Well, that's easy. Name him Ethelbert and send him to school wearing his hair in ringlets."

PECULIAR ADMISSION.

"There's something peculiar about that chauffeur under arrest for running down that old lady."

"What is it?"

"He actually admits that he was going over twelve miles an hour when the accident occurred."

THE REAL OPPORTUNITIES HERE IN AMERICA

After a rather extended journey through Europe in the late summer and fall, I returned with the settled conviction that there was no place in the world where, whatever his condition or color, the common man had as great opportunities or was worth as much to himself, as right here in America.—Booker T. Washington, in the National Magazine for January.

MONUMENTAL TALKS.

The agent for non-resident firms tells you what bargains he is furnishing in monuments; how in some way he is saving a deal of freight selling work at wholesale, owning large manufacturing plants, and possibly owns a quarry or two.

But possibly he forgets to tell you what commission or salary he is getting for selling work, what his traveling expenses are per month; also that he would be of no use to the firm he works for unless he made them a profit in addition to these extra expenses; that in any saving of freight or some other expense it is the local dealer who has the advantage; that the best satisfaction and best terms in buying monuments are obtained from buying direct from some reliable dealer and not through agents; that the best work is not obtained from the "cheap joint" talker and cheap work is dear at any price.

We do not employ agents. Cramer's monuments are dependable in every way. Give us a chance to show you what he can do, then if for any reason you do not think to you best interests to patronize the home dealer we will be glad to give you the names of other reliable dealers. It is not necessary to buy through agents and pay the extra salary or commission.
